The arms of our daughters in chains they are bound,
 The once fair and blooming are bowed to the ground,
 The day now seems dreary and chill'd as the grave;
 Derided by foemen, the Jew is a slave.
 O, Fatherland, dear, O, Fatherland, mine,
 The grave will unite us, I then shall be thine;
 O, Fatherland, dear, O, Fatherland, mine,
 The grave will unite us, I then shall be thine.
